Teacher Answer Key

Case Study

1. Nelson framed it as an ethical obligation to protect future generations and ensure respect for all living things.

2. He believed youth-led marches and teach-ins were a vital form of democratic engagement, propelling the environmental agenda forward.

Multiple Choice

1. C

2. A

3. B

Matching

1-D, 2-C, 3-E, 4-B, 5-A

Fill-in-the-Blank

1) April, 2) teach-in, 3) EPA

Short Answer (Sample Responses)

Q1: Widespread media coverage visualized the scale of public concern, pressuring politicians to take immediate action in passing environmental reforms.

Q2: It demonstrated overwhelming public support for environmental protection, motivating legislators from both parties to embrace new laws like the Clean Air Act amendments.

Q3: The movement's decentralized, citizen-driven nature shows how collective action and public demonstrations can influence policy, a model still applicable for modern environmental and social causes.